REUNION OF OLD BOYS IS REMARKABLE

Central School Organization Succeeds in Gathering of Unique Type in Home City

SPEAKERS RECALL BOYHOOD DAYS

Presentation Is Made to Mr. C. B. Sylvester, Secretary of Organizing Committee

MORE than four hundred old boys and girls celebrated the first reunion dinner of the Central School held at the Empress Hotel last night. Songs and stories were interspersed with the speeches taking a reminiscent vein as befitted a memorable occasion.

Opportunity was taken to recognize the work of Mr. C. B. Sylvester in presenting him with a case of pipes in recognition of his work as secretary of the organizing committee.

"It gives me a great deal of pleasure, but I assure you a considerable pride as well, having the privilege of presiding at such a memorable function this evening," said Magistrate George Jay, in speaking from the chair. "From many cities have come communications wishing us success, and regretting the inability of the writers to be present. It would take altogether too much time to read these letters; but there is one in particular I wish to refer to. It was written from Montreal, and signed by General Sir Arthur Currie, who expressed his great interest in the reunion and sent best wishes to all his old friends who might be present. Among others Sir Arthur particularly mentioned Mr. John O'Brien and Mr. Netherby, principals of the school when he taught there."

It was not thought that the question of the vacancy would be settled so soon, but Prime Minister MacDonald lost no time in making the appointment. The expedition with which he acted—following his

Public Invited to Best Citizen Medal Presentation Today

GREATER Victoria's best citizen for 1930 will be known today. At 4 o'clock this afternoon, Mayor Herbert Anson will introduce at the Old Boys' reception, at the Boys' Central School, the winner of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of British Columbia's Appreciation Medal. The public is cordially invited to witness the presentation.

EVIDENCE OF MISSING LINK IS UNCOVERED

NEW YORK, May 23.—Freshly found evidence of a missing link, claimed to sustain Darwin's original evolution theory and put man's origin in Africa, was presented to the American Society of Mammothologists yesterday.

This thing, which may have been neither human nor ape, was discussed at a symposium on gorillas five children leaped through the windows to the ground and escaped without injury. A short time later the house was totally destroyed by the flames that had made great headway before the occupants were alarmed.

The missing link is a skull with teeth, found five years ago at Taung, South Rhodesia, Africa. The teeth gave the clue to something new, and the study has just been completed by Professor Raymond A. Dart.

SKULL IS FOUND

The skull was found in a limestone cave, with indications that it was about 1,000,000 years old. It may have belonged to the much-sought Pliocene era, more than 1,000,000 years ago, whose skull has never yielded fully-accepted proof of human existence.

This cave was the home of baboons of a type now extinct. The skull was that of a child creature, estimated at about three years.

It attracted attention because brain pan and face part were slightly more voluminous than those of chimpanzees of the same age.

ITS MILK TEETH

It still bore its milk teeth, but they were difficult to examine. Now

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY IN ALBERTA

Gasoline Can Be Commercially Produced From Oil Sands of Prairie Province

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Ont., May 23.—Gasoline in almost unlimited quantities can be commercially produced from oil sands in Northern Alberta. Announcement of this discovery was made today by Dr. E. H. Boomer, of the University of Alberta, addressing the National Research Council.

The credit for a new method, which yields light oil suitable for the production of gasoline, goes to Dr. Boomer and Dr. A. K. Clark, also of the University. A semi-commercial plant is now in operation in the field, and results show that Western Canada, at least, will shortly be independent in the production of motor fuel.

STRIKING RESULTS

Research in connection with tar sands has been conducted for several years under grants by the National

Brazil's Welcome To Zeppelin Will Prove Memorable

(Mrs. Laura Crouse Durston, writer of the following dispatch, is a passenger on the Graf Zeppelin. Her home is in Syracuse, N.Y.)

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, May 23.—The people of cordial Pernambuco gave the passengers and crew of the Graf Zeppelin a welcome that will never be forgotten by any of us. When our big ship came gracefully down to earth last evening I really believe many of the natives thought us gods and goddesses who had dropped mysteriously from the skies.

Following us wherever we went, they regarded us with awe and admiration, and went out of their way to do things for us. In shops, hotels, everywhere, we were singled out and followed about respectfully.

AIRPORT IS JAMMED

Pernambuco has a population approaching 400,000, and honestly, I think every one of those 400,000 Brazilians, from infants to ancients, turned out to see us land. The airport was jammed with them.

We found Pernambuco hot—it is 92 degrees today—and we immediately got busy trying to keep from melting away. Of course, we all wanted to see the interesting sights of an interesting city, and as we knew our time was limited here, we curtailed our rest, in order to visit all the more important places.

This afternoon we went to a fine sandy beach for a swim in beautiful green water. We were careful to remain inside the coral reef, for we were warned that the water outside the reef is full of man-eating sharks.

Unfortunately, there has been little room for relaxation for the officers and crew of the Graf Zeppelin. They have been busy seeing to new supplies, refueling and making preparations for the start to Rio Janeiro on the next leg of our flight, which started at Friedrichshafen, Germany, and which will take us finally to Lakshur, N.J.

Political Strategists Are at Work

OTTAWA, Ont., May 23.—Parliamentary corridors are permeated today with a feverish air of the approaching Dominion general election. The party strategists are at work and members, candidates with hopeful ambitions to win over constituencies for their party and organizers from several parts of the country, are to be seen gathered here and there, busily engaged in perfecting the battle lines.

Sacks of Hansard with a variety of speeches are being sent out by every group in the Commons to the different ridings. With nomination conventions being held all over the Dominion, there is evidence of political activity in every quarter of the Commons and extending over to the Senate side of the Parliament Buildings.

Today, too, Ontario ministers and party organizers are to have a conference with Premier W. L. Mackenzie King. Campaigners are preparing to step into a stride which in the coming election promises to set a furious pace.

MR. STEVENS WILL REMAIN IN POLITICS

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Ont., May 23.—Hon. H. H. Stevens left for Vancouver tonight where his son, Rev. Francis H. Stevens, will be married on Tuesday next. Before his departure for the Pacific Coast, British Columbia members and senators tendered Mr. Stevens a complimentary dinner.

Hon. R. B. Bennett, Dominion Conservative leader, was present, and after the dinner stated to a representative of the Canadian Press that he had great pleasure in announcing his decision to retire from public life.

Mr. Bennett further said that the pressure brought to bear upon Mr. Stevens to induce him to alter his decision proceeded not only from members of the Conservative party in the House of Commons and Senate, but from leading citizens in every part of Canada. Although it involved very great personal sacrifice and a rearrangement of his

Victoria Appears In Festive Garb For Celebration

Street Parade and Coronation of Queen Bronwen Will Be Chief Features of Morning Engagements—Record Number of Sporting Attractions Will Occupy All Daylight Hours

Many Excursions Bring Hundreds to Participate

VICTORIA welcomes visitors from the Lower Mainland, the Puget Sound area and the Upper Island today to share in the observance of the birthday anniversary of Queen Victoria. While the character of these gatherings changes greatly with fluctuating tastes in amusement, some of the phases which amused at these gatherings more than half a century ago will be available today, as well as those faster movements which a more exacting generation demands. Thus, while the Gorge will again re-echo to the noises of an ever popular regatta, on the waters of Victoria Arm will also be staged today a hydroplane marathon, impossible in the days of the founders of this celebration. A novelty this year, and a tribute to the air-mindedness of the Junior population, is the model aeroplane meet at the Lansdowne Road airfield.

One of the most interesting features of the Boys' Central School reunion, now in progress in conjunction with the celebration, will be the presentation of the Appreciation Medal of the Native Sons of British Columbia to a leading citizen, which will take place by Mayor Anson's direction, at the reception of the old boys, timed for 4 o'clock.

THIS MORNINGS PLANS

Two principal features will provide attention for the crowds during the morning, the street parade, which has several novelties, and the coronation of Queen Bronwen at Beacon Hill Park as soon as practicable after the procession reached Beacon Hill Park.

ORDER OF PARADE

The order of the line-up in this street parade will be as follows: Flag, with escort from British Campers' Association; Band of 5th B.C. Coast Brigade; naval detachment from Royal Canadian Navy; military detachment from Work Point Barracks; Mayor and Aldermen, visiting mayors and reeves; winners of Victoria Day essay contest; judges; Victoria Girls Band. Section 1—Costume; Section 2—Decorated bicycles, band of pipers, 16th Canadian Scottish Section 3—Private cars, decorated Section 4—Novelty floats or displays, including comic bands. ZEPPELIN IS EN ROUTE TO RIO JANEIRO

(Associated Press)

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, May 23.—The Graf Zeppelin winged her way into the tropical night at 11:58 p.m. (9:58 Eastern standard time), for a voyage of 1,250 miles to Rio Janeiro and Southern Brazil.

Two of the ship's crew were burned during the operation of replenishing the gas supply, but their injuries were not dangerous.

The Graf slowly rose and within five minutes from the time the mooring ropes were cast off she was off for the South.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, accompanied by the German consul, Brazilian functionaries and members of the German colony, arrived at the field at 10 p.m.

A great crowd of curious countrymen and citizens of Pernambuco stood behind the police lines at Campo da Giquia, watching the preparations.

The passengers, who arrived at the same time as Dr. Eckener, were aboard the airship shortly after 11 o'clock.

NEW HOSPITAL TO BE ERECTED IN VANCOUVER

OTTAWA, Ont., May 23.—A new hospital for disabled veterans costing a half million dollars is to be erected at Shaughnessy Heights in Vancouver, according to an announcement here today. Architects of the Public Works Department have been instructed to prepare plans for the hospital, designed to be one of the finest in Canada of the kind. It will replace the present wooden structure which is unsuitable for the purpose.

It will take several months to prepare the plans and specifications for the new hospital so the exact time when the work will start is uncertain. But, in any event, there is to be a new building. The principle of it is decided.

Little Hope of Rescuing Alive Workers Trapped by Cave-In at Virginia, Minnesota

SLIDE TAKES PLACE WITHOUT WARNING

(Associated Press)

VIRGINIA, Minn., May 23.—Two men were entombed tonight in the underground workings of the Lincoln mine of the Interstate Iron Company here and company officials held little hope of rescuing them alive. The men are Mr. John Jager, forty-six, father of nine children, and Mr. Joseph Barto, fifty-five.

They were trapped by a cave-in. Rescue crews tonight were making every effort to reach them.

MINER ESCAPES

A third miner, Mr. Gabriel Fraboni, who had been working with Messrs. Barto and Jager, had left them to get material. He witnessed the cave-in while returning along the drift.

Mr. Fraboni said he heard a rumble and saw the roof give way. He declared the slide came without warning. The room is about 1,200 feet from the main shaft and approximately 110 feet below the surface.

RESCUE EFFORTS

Fellow miners working in relay of five and six men, removed earth and debris from the drift in an effort to get to the entombed men. It will take between ten and fifteen hours to reach them.

While there is some possibility the men may have received warning of the slide and made their way to the end of the chamber, thus escaping the fall of earth, company officials fear the two did not have time to run from the room.

POLICE QUELL DISTURBANCE

WARSAW, May 23.—A slight disturbance, quickly suppressed by police, followed a meeting at Wilna last night which protested the suspension of immigration to Palestine. A resolution adopted urged the transfer of the Palestine mandate, now held by Great Britain, to Poland, and the disturbance followed.

Says Pension Changes Are Satisfactory
OTTAWA, Ont., May 23.—The returned soldiers of Canada are completely satisfied with the proposed changes in the pensions laws, Colonel L. Lafecie, Dominion pension agent for the Canadian Legion, told a special senate committee today.

Consideration was being given by the government bill incorporating the proposed amendments to the Pension Act, under which the whole machinery for dealing with soldiers' cases will be overhauled. The committee passed several clauses of the bill without amendment and will continue consideration later today.

Colonel J. T. Thompson, chairman of the Pension Board, estimated the pensioners' tribunal will handle between 17,000 and 18,000 cases annually. About 20 per cent of all cases still will be heard by the Pension Board. These will be cases that are not contentious and in which a favorable judgment to the applicant may be made.

Continues Prize Winning Success With His Flowers
Mr. Angus McKay continues his prize-winning record in floral and agricultural shows. At the British Columbia Spring show he won ten firsts, three seconds and four thirds, as follows: Firsts for six and for twelve varieties of breeder tulips; for six and for twelve varieties of cottage tulips (the latter carrying the Gyro Cup), for Old English tulips, wild tulips, bi-colors, yellows, purple and lavender, and for twelve pansies; seconds for display tulips, white daffodils and Rembrandt tulips; and third prizes for border flowers, tulips (six distinct), Iris Germanica and double tulips.

This array brought two trophies and two special prizes.
Mr. McKay has now won forty-seven prizes at shows this season, as compared with 125 prizes in 1929 season.

TARIFF AND WORK HOURS

Unusual Circumstance Arises in Connection With Steel Companies and Protection

MINISTER DOUBTS PLAN FEASIBLE

OTTAWA, May 23.—It would not be practicable to make certain increases in protection on steel products contingent on the steel companies satisfying the Government that they were complying with the provisions of the Treaty of Commerce, as their candidate in the election by giving employees an eight-hour day and fair wages.

This announcement was made by Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, in the House of Commons tonight, when he refused to accept an amendment along this line suggested by Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, on Wednesday night.

Mr. Bennett agreed there was doubt on the validity of such an amendment, but he felt that it was a different view and may move along such lines at a later date.

ITEMS LEFT OVER

Four items in the steel schedule had been held up two nights ago as a result of an attack on working conditions and hours of labor in the British Empire Steel Corporation plant in Cape Breton. The items had been left over while the Government and members of the House had time to consider the claim that steel companies should not receive these tariff concessions while men worked in their plants eighty-four hours a week.

STILL IN PROGRESS

Negotiations between Canada and New Zealand respecting the recession of the order in council making the Australia trade treaty applicable to that Dominion are still in progress and several parts of the correspondence are confidential. Prime Minister informed Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Opposition, Mr. Bennett had asked that correspondence be tabled. As a matter of fact, the New Zealand Government had requested in one portion of the interchange, that it be not disclosed.

Replying to Mr. L. J. Ladner (Conservative, Vancouver South) the Prime Minister said that when the committee proceeded to take evidence in connection with the investigation of civil servants' salaries, there would be ample opportunity for representations to be made by all organizations of civil servants.

The question of importations of Russian coal into Canada was again brought to the attention of the House by Colonel Thomas Cantlay (Conservative, Pictou). In answer to him, Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of Mines, declared a small amount of Soviet coal had been received at Montreal and some had found its way as far as Cobalt, but shipments had not, however, been moved under the present arrangement whereby coal had a lower rate. As far as could be ascertained, no more than 150,000 tons had been imported. This coal was not displaced British coal, for the imports of the latter showed an increase. There were indications, however, that the Canadian product was supplanting the American anthracite.

Depression in Cotton Trade Is Increasing

MANCHESTER, England, May 23.—Depression in the Lancashire cotton trade is increasing. It is blamed chiefly on disturbed conditions in India, and the low rate of silver exchange in China.

More than forty weaving sheds are closed at Blackburn, where ten mills have been stopped at Burnley and there is much unemployment at Oldham.

It is estimated that one in three of the half-million operatives is idle or on short time.

Dr. King Is New Head of St. John Ambulance Ass'n

OTTAWA, Ont., May 23.—Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Dominion Minister of Pensions and National Health, is the new president of the Canadian branch of the St. John Ambulance Association. Announcement that he had accepted the invitation of the executive committee to assume the post left vacant by the recent death of Senator Hewitt Boscoe, was made today.

During the day the crew filled up our tanks with 22,000 cubic feet of hydrogen and added 200,000 cubic feet of blast gas. Hon. Mr. McKay has now won forty-seven prizes at shows this season, as compared with 125 prizes in 1929 season.

We made a beautiful landing in the dark last evening, after we had circled the airport four times. We had been bucking head winds all of Thursday, and it was pleasant to be on land again for a little while.

All of us have enjoyed and enjoyed this wonderful experience. There is a fine spirit of comradeship among the passengers. Among the most popular of the ship's company are the Infante Don Alfonso, cousin of the King of Spain, and Colonel Herrera, of the Spanish Air Corps.

"OUR FAVORITE DRINK"
The fleas and mosquitoes have not bothered us as much as we had anticipated. The only drink is quinine lemonade—and it isn't at all bad as they serve it here.

Brief as our stay has been here we have enjoyed the entertainment groups. Captain Shoemaker, Mr. Crouse and I were entertained by the American consul, and we had dinner with the Prussian Minister of Finance, Mr. Badt.

We are scheduled to leave tonight at 7 p.m., E.S.T. There is one report that we will be the guests at a big banquet at some beautiful hotel when we arrive at Rio. Still another report is that we won't disembark there at all. We don't know, but we have hopes that we will land again.

To Seek Re-election in Montreal

MR. C. H. CAHAN, K.C.

MONTREAL, Que., May 23.—Mr. C. H. Cahan, K.C., was the unanimous choice of a Conservative convention last night of the electors of St. Lawrence-St. George constituency, which Mr. Cahan now represents in the House of Commons, as their candidate in the forthcoming general election. Mr. Cahan accepted the decision of the convention and in a speech strongly urged the Government for its fiscal policy.

Mr. Jay related something of the history of the Central School, of its early associations with the Crown Employees' Royal Engineers, and the Hudson's Bay Company. The present school was a child of Confederation, being established shortly after the province became a part of the Dominion. The old boys of the school had had a tradition to live up to. They were the sons and the descendants of the pioneers, Hudson's Bay Company employees, Royal Engineers, and the goldseekers of the Cariboo. The present boys of the school should continue to build on the foundation which their fathers had laid.

Concluding his remarks, Mr. Jay said he could not let the opportunity pass without referring to the part Mr. Ernest Butterworth had played in bringing about the first reunion of the Central School Old Boys. It was Mr. Butterworth's idea, which had culminated so successfully, and it was his vision of how splendid the idea was, how it had brought out the old boys of the school and the old—not old girls, but girls of the old girls' school, who were lending their charms to the occasion.

MAYOR ANSCOMB

Mayor Ansoncomb was the next speaker.

"Our coastal cities hold a commanding position at the gateway of our Western Empire and are the outlet for the products of our own and other Western provinces. It seems more than probable that the ports of British Columbia will soon gain added importance in the handling of grain shipments. The unfortunate situation now existing in relation to our crops and the life blood of our Dominion—must be solved speedily and it may be that our largest market in the future will be in the Orient. The vast populations of China and Japan, making allowance for the fact that China is more or less in the melting pot—are awaking to a new order of things and in recent years have been buyers to a limited extent it is true, of Canadian wheat, but this market has wonderful possibilities, and as it develops, so will the volume of trade through our coast ports develop. Our own port is equipped to take care of a portion of the wheat which is being shipped to Japan, and we are looking forward to receive a proper share of this business."

COAL SITUATION

"There is another product of our own province which is exploited to its fullest extent, would go a long way towards building up this Island into a real industrial centre. I refer to our coal fields, and it is a pity that we have not been able to develop them to their full possibilities. The coal-burning device, making possible the economical use of pulverized coal, have opened up new possibilities for the profitable operation of our coal fields, and it is unnecessary to tell you what it would mean to our own city and the province in general, should it be found possible that as a fuel, pulverized coal is better and more economical than the oil at present being used so generally, but which, unfortunately, has mainly to be imported.

"My only reason for mentioning commercial matters at a friendly social function like this is just to try and impress on your minds in the strongest possible way the innumerable advantages we enjoy and the lavish gifts bestowed upon us by nature. These should give us a real sense of pride, pride in our native or adopted city, pride in our native or adopted land, and in a larger way, pride in holding a foremost place in the greatest Empire the world has ever known."

MANY NOTED NAMES

"It is obvious from the large and enthusiastic gathering we have here tonight there is one thing at least of which many of you are proud and that is your connection with the Boys' Central School. When I look around and see amongst you men of such reputation as statesmen, men known even beyond the borders of our vast Dominion, men who have made an indelible mark on the history of our city, our province and our Dominion, and who are acknowledged leaders in the highest professions, men prominent in the service of the Crown, the city and the Dominion, in all the walks of business and commercial life, I think there is every reason for pride. I do not know whether there is any one of you who is here or not, but if there are, this must be one of the happiest days in their lives."

"May I wish all of you every prosperity in the years to come and may I wish that the Boys' Central School will continue to turn out in the future as in the past, that type of citizen so necessary to the building of a community of a nation, citizens who are imbued with the highest principles and who stand ready to uphold the high ideals and high traditions of the British Empire."

The worship said in part:
"I feel it quite a compliment that I should have been asked to say a few words at a gathering of this nature. Of course, as an Englishman, I have no right to be ashamed of the part my countrymen have played in the pioneering and development of this Western world, and I have no doubt that in the selection of our place of birth, which is perhaps a good thing, because quite a number here tonight might have selected that 'tough little island' that 'rules the waves,' which is the mother of those great portions of our world-wide Empire."

"No land, and no race has any monopoly in men of wisdom, courage and perseverance, but all lands and all races contribute their quotas to the great movements which develop a new world or enrich an old one."

A GREAT INSPIRATION
"It was a wonderful inspiration on the part of those responsible for bringing about this reunion. There was no world of cementing old friendships, reviewing the progress of the years, or even laying plans for the future than a meeting like this, when the old boys of the school, the past, rejoice with those who have 'made good' and take pride in their exploits, and also cheer and encourage the new boys of the school, who are receiving their education in the same old school."

"It is interesting and stimulating for friends of boyhood days to meet again after a lapse of time and exchange experiences and ideas, and this reunion cannot fail but mark a very pleasant milestone along the highway of your lives."

"All of you who had the good fortune to be born in this province or who were fortunate enough to obtain their early education in this, the Capital City, have every reason to be proud, proud of the growth and expansion of your city and your province and proud of its possibilities."

WONDERFUL FUTURE
"There is every indication that the Pacific Coast of Canada will at an early date be the dominant factor in the commercial life of the Dominion. Our vast mineral wealth, the surface of which has not yet been scratched, together with our other natural resources form a combination given to no other land in equal abundance. Surely we have the means with the necessary vision and ability to develop these gifts in a manner which will be beneficial to our own people and to a world waiting to receive our products and manufactures."

"In this great West, where nature is cast in a mold of such grandeur and there is inspiration for every man. When we lift our eyes to the majestic mountains which stand watch and ward at our gates and the early morning sun, as it sweeps the shore and the fresh sea breeze, our vision should expand and our outlook enlarge, in keeping with the scale of nature's own handiwork with which we are endowed. Where else in Canada but in this Pacific Coast province will we find nature assisting mankind so generously?"

PATIENCE NECESSARY
"It may sometimes seem that our growth and development is rather slow and we are all prone to be impatient with those charged with the responsibility of our various governments, but it must be remembered that a nation moves slowly and although our yearly progress is almost imperceptible, yet looking back over the short span of our lives we see wonderful progress has been made. On this coast, new cities have risen where little more than a generation ago the savage roamed; farms and homes have been carved from the virgin forest, and railroads and roads radiate through the valleys and over mountains, but a short century ago untrodden by man. The Premier was greeted with prolonged applause when he came to speak. He had never had such honor extended to him as the present occasion presented. It was a unique gathering. Premier Toulmie commented the chairman on having so many old boys together, and was glad to see them all with so many wives and such lovely companions. There was no other city in America that possessed such lovely ladies. The reunion revived old memories, tales of sport, escapades and doings. The Premier recalled many amusing incidents of his own school days, relating his progress from school to school, and paid eloquent tribute to the teachers who taught in the schools of his young days, mentioning them by name. He contrasted the early days of the city with present conditions, and told of what the old pioneers were up against, and concluded by saying that 'British Columbia could only be what the people living in it made of it. With all its vast resources, it will remain as it is for thousands of years and more if we do not get out and develop it. Train yourselves to develop this province,' the Premier appealed. 'Remain in the country by all means, and if you will stick by British Columbia it will assuredly stick by you.'"

DR. MACMILLAN
Dr. L. Macmillan, of Vancouver, said he felt 'like one coming home from a strange land.' He supposed he represented all the old school boys who had turned up for the reunion as well as those that did not. In turning back the years, the Old Boys' Committee had outdone Joshua, whose best effort had been to turn back or stop the sun for a short time. Victoria was a most appropriate place for such a reunion as they were now attending. The speaker recalled what had been accomplished by science and invention since he was a boy, all of which made the world a better place for the schoolboys of today, giving him greater opportunities.

MR. J. D. GILLIS
Mr. J. D. Gillis, whom Trustee Jay referred to as the senior ex-principal of the school now living, was advised to grow a beard. He spoke of Sir Arthur Currie's connection with the school, and of the difficulty in finding a successor to him when he left. He remembered one teacher who stayed for half a day, and when asked what were his reasons for leaving, he stated he was advised to grow a beard. TRIBUTE TO MR. SYLVESTER
A pleasing ceremony took place during the evening, when Chairman Jay called Mr. C. B. Sylvester to the head table and presented him with what he termed a "small token of appreciation." In every affair of this kind, Mr. Jay stated, "everything depended on the secretary. If the secretary is not efficient, chaos results. Mr. Sylvester had been approached and consented to act in the capacity of secretary, and the results had justified the confidence." Mr. Sylvester suitably acknowledged the presentation. Interwoven with the speeches were songs by Miss D. Hartree and Mr. Ernest Butterworth, which were enjoyed and loudly cheered, while Mr. Herbert Kent acted as song leader and had the girls and boys singing the old songs in the old fashion.

The committee in charge of the banquet comprised Messrs. Charles F. Gardiner, chairman; Fred Walter, J. Charles McNeill, T. P. McConnell and R. H. Hiscoks.

Following the banquet a very enjoyable dance to be held, the ballroom being thronged with guests, and a very up-to-date programme of dance music was played by a popular five-piece orchestra. During an interval a number of pupils of Miss Violet Powkes delighted the guests with a programme of dances. The first was a Polish mazurka, for which the little group had won the Davis & King cup at the Musical Festival in the folk dancing class. The costumes worn in this dance were exceptionally attractive. This was followed by a clever acrobatic dance, tap dance, sailors' hornpipe and a musical comedy tap dance, which was one of the most pleasing on the programme. The young dancers received great applause from the onlookers grouped about the ballroom. In charge of the arrangements for the dance were Messrs. T. P. McConnell, Herbert Kent, Victor McNeill, William H. Kinman, Oscar Sommer and W. P. Carey Pope.

Bird Caught in Twenty-Three Story Trap in Chicago
CHICAGO, May 23.—The bird has flown and quite a few staid financiers in the twenty-three-story State Bank Building in the La Salle Street district can now go back to work without further ado.
The building is in the shape of a hollow square. Into this square the bird, believed to be a brown thrush, flew only to find there was not enough room between the building's four walls for it to spiral twenty-three stories to safety, and it was finally able to wing its way over the top. Police men, firemen and others had tried to rescue the bird before it solved its own problem. But the big stock and bond men, the insurance brokers and investment bankers who had spent hours watching the rescue efforts learned that a wren had been caught during the night in the same predicament as the thrush but had been unable to escape. The wren was found dead at the bottom of the square by a janitor.

ANNUAL MEETING OF SUBSCRIBERS

An additional vote of $1,000 from Oak Bay Municipality, and $500 from the B.C. Cement Company for the maintenance of the ward furnished by that company, were gratefully acknowledged at the monthly meeting of the Jubilee Hospital directors last evening.

With regret, the resignation of Miss Warren was accepted as a supervisor, and a successor will be appointed without delay.

Responsive to a request from Dr. Carr, radiologist, for additional equipment, the board decided to purchase a Brasch bampus urological cystoscopic and radiographic cable for X-ray work.

An additional technician is to be engaged to assist the department. The monthly statistics of the institution showed that during the month of April there had been 7,172 hospital days, with an average number of patients in the hospital of 239 per day. Per capita cost was announced at $3.25 per day, or with X-ray and laboratory service $3.63.

The annual meeting of subscribers and donors was set for June 27. In connection with the choice of the incoming directorate, it was announced that the representatives of the medical profession on the board for the year commencing July 1 would be Drs. G. C. Kenning, T. McPherson and J. W. Lennox.

An expression of sympathy to Mr. Roland Powell was formally tendered, owing to the fact that Mr. Powell, a member of the board, has met with a painful accident.

The young man was sitting on a hotel veranda. Close by him sat a young, pretty widow, with her hair year-old son. Presently the little fellow ran up to the man, who patted him on the head.

"What's your name?" the little boy asked.

"William Brown."

"Is you married?"

"No, I am not."

The child paused a moment, then turning to his mother, said: "What else must I ask him, mummy?"

EARL JELlicoe AND NAVAL TREATY

The British House of Lords has been discussing the Three-Power Naval Treaty. That body is concerned, as well as the whole nation, about the future building programme in Great Britain. Earl Jellicoe, who commanded the fleet at the Battle of Jutland, says that in view of what is being done by other nations Great Britain has reached a position when she cannot reduce the Navy any further with due regard to security. He believes that the reductions proposed under the Three-Power Treaty go beyond the limit of security. Great Britain in naval matters has to consider not only her relative strength with the United States but her geographical position, the widespread nature of the Empire and the strength of navies other than that of the United States.

Great Britain, says Earl Jellicoe, has always in the past considered a large number of cruisers essential to the security of her sea communications. In 1914 Great Britain had 114 cruisers, and yet now in naval discussions the difficulties that faced the Navy then seem to be forgotten. The outcome of the London Conference is that Great Britain is to have a total of 339,000 tons of cruisers of which 146,000 tons are of 8-inch-gun cruisers, but Earl Jellicoe fails to see where the aim in view is to have fifty cruisers. In fact he cannot understand how Great Britain can attain such a total or anything like it by December, 1936. This is an impossible achievement unless there is a building programme of five or six cruisers a year. The Labor Government has made no provision for this.

Lord Carson also attacks the Naval Treaty. He characterizes it as the first time there has been an attempt to reduce the Navy so as to take away from Great Britain the mastery of the seas. "which has hitherto been considered essential to her absolute existence and safety." He believes the Treaty has been negotiated with the object of bringing about better relations with the United States, but the price is too heavy. He, in common with so many of the people of Great Britain, cannot understand how Great Britain can attain such a total or anything like it by December, 1936. This is an impossible achievement unless there is a building programme of five or six cruisers a year. The Labor Government has made no provision for this.

The question raised by the Three-Power Treaty, in the opinion of Lord Carson, is whether or not the country is satisfied that it will have a fleet strong enough to guard 80,000 miles of trade routes which are the arteries of Empire. If the conditions forecast by the Treaty had existed when the Great War broke out, Great Britain would now be a German dependency. In effect Lord Carson does not believe that the people of Great Britain are satisfied to cut the Navy down far below the safety level. The Ramsay MacDonald Government has given no assurance that in what it has done it has behind it the expert opinion of the Admiralty. Lord Carson alludes to another angle which has been studiously ignored by the proponents of the Three-Power Pact. Of this he says:

"There is a bigger question still, and that is how could the Government decide a matter which affects the very existence of this country without at the same time considering our other modes of defence—the Army and the Air Force? Is the Army to be increased, and are we superior in air power to other countries? The truth is that this is the gravest case in recent times which has come before their lordships' House." Lord Carson hopes that Great Britain's naval situation will soon be treated as the gravest case before the country.

TRADE OPENING FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA

At present British Columbia is comparatively isolated from trade with Jamaica, although, under the Canada-West Indies Treaty, that island is anxious to do business with this province. It has many products which could find a ready market here. British Columbia produces a variety of commodities which would find a sale in Jamaica. There is but one line of steamers now plying between British Columbia and Jamaica, owned by a Californian firm. The freight rates are heavy, with the exception of flour, which is $9 a ton. For canned goods and other products the rate ranges from $14 to $24 a ton.

It can well be imagined that American owners of steamers would wish to defect trade to American ports so that British Columbia must labor under a handicap in any trade development with Jamaica until such time as there is a Canadian steamship line between our ports and Kingston. The American line does not give a monthly service. It takes over a month from Vancouver to Kingston and about two months on the return voyage. The importers at Jamaica complain of the service. They want direct communication with British Columbia, and in their desire for an opportunity for trade development that should not be overlooked.

This province has never attempted in any orderly way to secure the lumber trade with Jamaica. The island imported 18,000,000 feet of lumber in 1928 and British Columbia supplied 2,500,000 feet of this. Jamaica is anxious enough to secure her lumber requirements from Canada but apparently the shipping is not available from this coast, and, as a consequence, the Americans monopolize the trade. The truth is that this province has been chipmunkish to its opportunities. Our manufacturers have no agent in Jamaica. They have made no attempt to bring about the establishment of a direct steamship service under the Canadian flag. Mr. H. Hastings, of this city, has spent several weeks in Jamaica examining the situation in regard to trade development. The data he has gathered shows there is a large market which British Columbia could develop. It is contingent on an adequate steamship service, and enterprising methods to push the goods manufactured in this province. Considering that Canada has a very favorable reciprocal trade arrangement with the West Indies this province has neglected its opportunities to take advantage of a market which holds high promise.

ON HAVING CONVICTIONS

There is something to be said for the robust attitude of mind of the man who has convictions and is not to be argued out of them. Old Dr. Samuel Johnson would enter eagerly into controversy with almost anyone who dared to oppose him. Once in a while Boswell stood up to him but was almost invariably worsted. In the doctor's discourse there was usually more of the countercheck quarrelsome and the reproof vaillant than of the calm modest or the retort courteous. On the tour of the Hebrides Johnson gave "a shilling extraordinary" to the clerk of the English chapel at Montrose, saying, "He belongs to an honest church." When Boswell ventured to remind him that "the episcopate" were but dissenters there and only tolerated, "Sir," retorted the doctor, implacably, "we are here as Christians in Turkey."

The quality of self-sufficiency which is supposed, rightly or wrongly, to have its natural seat in the breasts of British people everywhere, was never more delightfully displayed than in the prayer offered by the minister of a tiny kirk on a tiny Hebridean island who invoked the Divine blessing "upon the people of this island and upon the inhabitants of the adjacent island of Great Britain." An equally charming instance is that of the English lady on a Rhine steamboat. "What do you as a foreigner think of our cities?" asked an amiable fellow-traveler. "I'm not a foreigner, I'm English," was the lady's reply.

Oliver Wendell Holmes is authority for the statement that controversy equalizes fools and wise men and the fools know it. They have indeed, known it a long time, but some wise men have an effective way of silencing them. Professor Gilbert Murray in his essay on the Stoic philosophy mentions, as an illustration of the proper manner of dealing with the frivolities of the sceptical mind, the Duke of Wellington's treatment of a subaltern who undertook to comment critically upon an anecdote related by the Duke. The latter had told how once at mess in the Peninsula his servant had opened a bottle of port and inside found a rat. "It must have been a very large bottle," remarked the subaltern. The Duke fixed him with his eye. "It was a damned small bottle." "Oh," said the subaltern, abashed, "then no doubt it was a very small rat." "It was a damned large rat," said the Duke.

It is an anomaly of democracy that the vast bulk of those who elect democratic representatives to parliament pay no direct taxes. In Great Britain of 28,850,000 parliamentary voters less than one in every fourteen pays an income tax at all. In fact the great bulk of the tax is paid by half a million of them. It should be axiomatic in democratic government that taxation and representation are inseparable. Of the modern-day trend The London Times says: "The divorce of taxation from representation, which has increased so rapidly during these post-war years, is already one of the most disquieting factors in our political life."

PROGRESSION

True mountaineers, aspiring to some height which neither they nor others can attain, reach altitudes that bring supreme delight. And make the common joys of life seem vain. Viewed from above, the rugged path they trod will smooth itself into an easy grade. It springs, perhaps, from dreary moorland sod. Or marsh where life, stagnating, has decayed. From each new-conquered peak a place more fair reveals itself upon a higher crest. Inviting further upward those who dare. To undertake so arduous a quest. May I then, striving toward an unfix'd star, Be not dismayed though it recede too far! Victoria, B.C. WALTER G. YORK.

MEANING OF SUFFIXES

A gentleman once wrote to Sir William Gilbert criticizing his use of the word "coyful," and asking how anyone could be full of coy. "Really, I don't know," was Gilbert's reply; "I have the same difficulty about the word bashful. How can anyone be full of bash?" And this recalls the story of the teacher who was explaining to his class that the suffix "ous" meant full of, and he gave as an example joyous, which, he carefully explained, meant full of joy. "Now, boys, another example. He went a small hand. 'Please, sir, please,'" The Choir.

Note and Comment

By R. D. D.

Life is a jest, and all things show it.
I thought it once, and now I know it.
—Shakespeare.

Under the British system of government there is a tradition, that the Sovereign can do no wrong. Before the tradition was established and accepted as a governing principle, historians are agreed that British sovereigns were as prone to do wrong as their subjects. It was because kings were inclined to be arbitrary and despotic in their methods of government that their subjects took the matter into their own hands and limited the powers of their rulers. Today Sovereigns are no rulers. They are governors by rule of their responsible advisors, chosen by the people. Hence, while kings are enthroned, the people rule.

Demos occupies the seat of the mighty in all self-governing countries as well as in Great Britain. The first home of responsible government. And as we survey the situation in most of the nations of the world today, we are inclined to think Demos is making a prettier mess of his job of governing than any of his arbitrary predecessors. Democracy has triumphed in Great Britain, and look at the political state of affairs in that country today, as well as in most of the Dominions and dependencies of the British Empire. There is trouble and uncertainty in India and there is trouble and uncertainty threatening in other outlying outposts of the Empire.

Democracy is enthroned in Australia. The principles of Socialism, inducted with the principles of Communism, are being applied in Australia through the agency of a more equitable distribution of wealth by taking from the rich all they have and dividing it among the poor. The Commonwealth is suffering from a business depression without parallel in its comparatively short history, and that condition is attributable to circumstances which obviously have nothing to do with the case. The Socialist Government of Australia has followed the example of the Socialist Government of Great Britain, and the condition of one country is almost an exact parallel with the condition of the other country. The situation in both countries is that prosperity can be produced by attacking and confiscating capital, by encouraging idleness, and discouraging industry.

In the land of triumphant democracy, which of course is the United States, a similar delusion prevails, although it has manifested itself in a different form. There is an acute business depression in the United States. The ordinarily astute politicians of the Republic have deluded themselves into a belief that the business depression is due to two things. For months the people of the United States have been lectured and hectored upon the subject of their pessimistic state of mind and told that if they believed they actually were in a state of prosperity, prosperity would be their portion. That cure for the business depression has failed. The people of the United States could not be brought to a cheerful and optimistic state of mind because the depression was an obvious fact and could not be dispensed by an absurd fiction.

Having failed in one direction, the political quacks changed their tactics and tried to bring the depression of the country. They admitted the fact of the depression, but claimed the general depression was due to the unprotected condition of one industry. They said if the agricultural industry were given the protection it needed, and taxed into a state of prosperity, all other industries would immediately be restored to a state of prosperity. So the President called a special session of Congress and ordered the two Houses to deal with the tariff in the interests of agriculture. The special session of Congress instead of fixing up the tariffs in the interests of agriculture opened up all the tariff schedules and proceeded to deal with them in the interests of every industry; but when the Congressmen did that the job proved so big that they could not finish it. The regular session of Congress picked up the problem where the special session had dropped it and has been discussing it ever since. For more than a year the Senate and the House have been alternately raising and lowering the duties on chamber underwear while the newspapers jeered at them and the common people wondered whether the tariff was destined to remain permanently fixed between heaven and earth like Mahomet's coffin. That is an example of the manner in which triumphant democracy discharges its duties to a great nation. And even if Congress should finish its job sooner or later, the tariff may not be definitely fixed, for the power may be given to the President under the proposed flexible provision of the measure to raise or lower the duties in what he believes to be the best interests of the country. Thus the greatest of the democracies invests its executive officer with arbitrary or autocratic power.

But Canada, which is inclined to boast of her independence and sturdy fight for complete autonomy, is not in a position to point the finger of scorn at the workings of democracy in any other country. Tariffs, which may be condemned when imposed for aggressive purposes, cannot be condemned when imposed for defensive purposes. The King Government which has assailed tariffs for all purposes at all times has been seized with a panic at the present time and has adopted a tariff which does not appear to be of much value for any purpose and appears to be about as doubtful about the kind of tariff it wants as the United States Congress.

Toronto Synod Urges Revision Of Praise Book

TORONTO, May 23.—Revision of the present book of common prayer of the Church of England in Canada, because the present-day needs of the church can only be adequately met by revision of the book, was advocated by the diocese of Toronto at the closing session of its twenty-eighth synod last night. The motion was unanimously passed, requesting the general synod at its next session to take such steps as may provide the church with a revised hymn book with the least possible delay. The motion pointed out the general synod in 1927 had appointed a committee to compile a small supplementary collection of hymns and tunes, but, according to the prevailing opinion at the session, the supplementary collection would not fill the need, because the world was passing through a formative and creative period in music at the present time.

Depicts Grandeur and Misery of Victory in War

By S. E. L.
"Grandeur and Misery of Victory," by Georges Clemenceau. Harcourt, Brace & Company, New York, 1930.

This book, we are informed by the notice on the flyleaf, was published simultaneously in the leading countries of the world, April 12, 1930. It contains the Tiger's reply to an attack made upon him by Marshall Foch. "What, my gallant marshal," exclaims Clemenceau in his foreword, "are you so intransigent to the thrill of the great hours that you took ten years of cool and deliberate meditation to assail me for no other reason than a stale mess of military routine? I bear you a grudge for laying your blasted pistol at the gates of history to wound me in the back—an insult to the days that are gone. I cannot remain speechless. You challenge me. Here I am."

There are seventeen chapters in the book. The first contains much detail relating to difficulties in the conduct of the war arising from French politics and international affairs. It was the prejudice and personal rivalries of the commanders of the Allied and associated forces engaged. The story is told here of how the dark days of April, 1918, unity of command was secured. Foch was entrusted by the British, French and American Governments with the strategic direction of military operations, with the proviso that the commanders-in-chief of the three armies should suggest, and that Foch should have the right to appeal to his Government if, in his opinion, his army should find itself placed in danger by any instruction received from Foch.

No doubt the military student, well versed in the intricacies and subtleties involved in the relations between the military and the civil powers and between the Allied Governments and the general public, will find Clemenceau's narrative sufficiently full and satisfying; but, as for the ordinary reader, when he learns that Clemenceau gave Foch to understand that France wanted him to exercise a real command, to give orders and not merely offer suggestions, and that Foch paid no attention to this, he will be willing to let it go at that.

FUNGENT OPINIONS

In point of fact, the chief interest in the brilliant book does not attach itself to the dispute between the Tiger and his marshal. It relates rather to the indomitable Clemenceau himself, his outspoken, penetrating, vivid, pungent, and often bitter expressions of opinion regarding the personalities concerned in the peace conference, and perhaps most of all his comments upon the national character, not only of the Germans, but also of the British and the American people.

For Clemenceau, President Wilson was "the inspired prophet of a noble idealistic venture to which he was unfortunately destined to become a slave." Balfour was "the most cultured, the most gracious, the most courteous of adamant men," Milner, a "brilliant intellect crowned with high culture that culminates in a discreet sentimentality." Lloyd George, with his "Welsh exuberance," came forward, fresh and pink, with "his bright two-lasted smile." House is "a supercilious man escaped from the wilds of Texas," and Hoover was conspicuous for "the stiffness of a man whose nerves are at the end of his tether."

Venezuela is "the veritable son of Ulysses," and Delany, imbued with ancient Hellenic gale. Evidently he like Hughes, of Australia, whom he characterizes as noble, and Massey, of New Zealand, who was in the first rank for loftiness of sentiment and eloquence of speech, but Doherty, our own Doherty, he damns with faint praise as good-looking, but with an expression of limited intelligence. Smuts, he dismisses curtly with the remark that he has "a forced smile." He has a word of praise for Bonar Law, the prince of balance, and for Sir Maurice Hankey, who was "the real master of ceremonies" at the conference.

EDITOR IS HONORED BY MANCHESTER

World Famous Newspaperman Made Freeman of City—Has Held Post for Many Years

MR. SCOTT HAS GREAT RECORD

By ANNIE B. RANKIN
(Special to The Colonist, Copyright, 1930.)

The name of Charles Prestwich Scott, governing director and for over half a century distinguished editor of one of the world's famous newspapers, The Manchester Guardian, was recently added to the roll of honorary freemen of the City of Manchester.

So jealously has Cottonopolis guarded the highest distinction in its power to bestow that the name of the veteran editor is only the forty-seventh to join the select company, which includes names of such international repute as those of Stanley, the explorer; President Woodrow Wilson, Lord Beatty, Earl Haig, premiers of the British Dominions, General Smuts, Mrs. Rylands (the only woman on the list, in recognition of the city's debt to a noble library), and Mr. Lloyd George, who was enrolled during his premiership.

It was in 1871 that the brilliant Oxford graduate was appointed to succeed his cousin, Mr. J. Taylor, son of the founder of The Manchester Guardian, as its editor.

MANY TRIBUTES

Last year, when the octogenarian editor resigned his chair in favor of his son, it was with surprise to his fellow-citizens to read the well-merited tributes that poured in from leaders of all sections of thought and all shades of political opinion, from all parts of the world, acclaiming the nobility of character, high courage and public spirit of the great international figure who has long been a beacon light of inspiration to every honest journalist.

The King honored Mr. Scott by sending the following message: "The King learns that you have resigned the editorship of The Manchester Guardian. For fifty-seven years you have been responsible for the conduct of a great newspaper, and His Majesty, while regretting your resignation, congratulates you on an achievement which must surely be unique in the history of journalism."

On the rare occasions when Mr. Scott graces a public platform it is difficult to decide which impresses his audience the more—the sight, not too familiar even in his own town, of the tall, distinguished-looking power behind the Guardian, with the delicately-chiseled features and the manner of a great gentleman, or the sound of a classic speech, perfectly delivered in an unimpassioned voice, clear and decisive in thought and diction.

EDITOR'S IDEAS

He once wrote: "A newspaper's primary office is the gathering of news. At the peril of its soul it must see that the supply is not tainted. Neither in its gathering, nor in what it does not give, nor in the mode of presentation must the unclouded face of truth suffer wrong."

In his effort to express something of Manchester's appreciation of Mr. Scott's unparalleled record of influence and honor, and to convey the esteem and love of its citizens to the "grand old man" of journalism, the Lord Mayor made appropriate and happy use of the Guardian's beautiful words, spoken in Toronto on February 14 last:

"The shadows of evening lengthen about me, but morning is in my heart. I have lived from the time of one century to the dories of the next. I have had varied fields of labor and full contact with men and have warmed both hands before the fire of life. The testimony I bear is this: that the castle of enchantment is not yet behind me. It is before me, and it gives me glimpses of its battlements and towers. The best of life is always farther on."

great victory before the Parliamentary Labor party last night—was commemorated by some today as a gesture saying: "We have filled the gap and will carry on."

THE BATTLEGROUND

But the question of unemployment—the battleground on which the MacDonald Government's fall was threatened—still remains.

The Prime Minister returns to London from the North on Tuesday and on Wednesday there will be the weekly meeting of the cabinet, and it is expected, long consideration will be given unemployment.

The ministers will then attend the House of Commons session in evening agreed upon their attitude in debate, in face of the vigorous attacks which the Conservatives are expected to launch.

"THERE IS NO CRISIS"

"There is no crisis and there has never been a crisis," asserted Sir Oswald Mosley in an interview today. Sir Oswald, however, is the ability of the Government being defeated on the unemployment question in the House next Wednesday evening. He said the Government could not be beaten unless the two other parties, Conservatives and Liberals, combined against it. He admitted that, if the twenty-two Labor members who supported his motion yesterday voted with the Opposition they would probably bring defeat.

"But I am going to ask all sympathizers to vote with the Government," declared Sir Oswald. "I shall persevere in my attempt to secure vigorous handling of the unemployment problem, not by forcing a group or faction, but by trying to convince the party as a whole."

SHIP FITTER IS LOSER IN ACTION

Vancouver Lawyers Awarded $1,171 for Assistance With War Claim

VANCOUVER, May 23.—Following trial in Supreme Court, Mr. Justice Fisher has awarded Messrs. George F. Cameron and Charles Ian Cameron, Vancouver lawyers, judgment in the sum of $1,171 against Mr. Arthur Boulton, ship fitter, as compensation for collecting $22,225. He was recaptured and beaten by a German guard with a rifle butt, so that an ear drum was broken and his skull and spine were injured.

The commission heard the claim here in 1925. In his defence, Boulton alleged that the plaintiffs agreed

ICEBERGS CAUSE ALARM TO VESSEL

BOSTON (By Mail).—A genuine scare was thrown into the passengers of the North German Lloyd liner, Karlsruhe, when on the night of May 1, after the liner had battled a terrific ice all night, they awoke to find two monster icebergs only a short distance from the ship.

When the liner docked here on May 6, Captain Pilsinger reported to the local United States Hydrographic Office that the bergs were sighted between the Flemish Cap and the east coast of Newfoundland during the trip from Bremen, Germany, Halifax to Boston and New York.

The captain said that owing to a delay in leaving Bremen he had taken the shortest route across the Atlantic. The night of May 1, on the Grand Banks of Newfoundland, he encountered a terrific ice, with which his ship was forced to battle twelve hours, and against high seas as well. The following morning two icebergs were sighted, one of enormous size, which loomed over the ship, and which he was obliged to pass at a distance of only a short distance away, he said.

Captain Pilsinger declared it an act of Providence that the heavy fog, which settled down five hours after passing the bergs, had not been in the vicinity of the ice, for it was in the direct path of the liner.

Rigid Enforcement Of Rule Is Ordered

VANCOUVER, May 23.—Rigid enforcement of the regulation requiring doctors to record history of cases under their care at Vancouver General Hospital will be instituted. Following a thorough discussion of this phase of hospital work, the board of directors of that institution at last night's monthly meeting decided to take action which will bring about a strict observance of this requirement with a view to maintaining the standard of the hospital.

The subject was introduced by Dr. B. D. Gille, chairman of the attending staff, who reported that a large number of doctors are delinquent in writing up case histories. The importance of this factor upon which stress was laid.

On motion of Mr. J. H. McVey, the board passed a resolution instructing the attending staff to notify all delinquent doctors that

CANADA MAKES

REAL GIFT TO EMPIRE WEAL

Premier King Issues Message on Day Devoted to Greatness of British Commonwealth

(Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, May 23.—On the eve of Empire Day, Premier Mackenzie King tonight issued a message to the people of Canada and of the British Empire generally. He stressed the need of tightening the bonds of Empire and of welding together an economic unit.

Premier King's message follows: "Canada's Empire Day message is the budget of 1930. By progressive extensions of the British and Australian preferences, by the restoration of penny postage throughout the Empire, by facilities for welcoming to Canada the R-100, and by other means our country has afforded a practical demonstration of her desire to see developed policies which she believes are not only in her own interest but equally in the interest of all parts of the British Commonwealth of Nations."

PORTALS OF TRADE OPEN
"Canada's action in this particular is the outcome of no spirit of jealous economic exclusiveness toward other nations. Our portals of trade are open to the world on terms of fair exchange. We value, however, our association as a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations. In our growth toward full stature of nationhood, we have strengthened the ties of sentiment and tradition which bind us to the Motherland and sister nations."

It is especially gratifying to note that our latest extension of the British and Empire preference has met with such a spontaneous and whole-hearted response in the British press, irrespective of party affiliations. Trade is essentially a matter of business, but our position offers unexampled opportunity for fraternal co-operation and commercial enterprise in the era of vast development which awaits the world in this twentieth century."

Suit Jackets Are Nipped-In or Belted

BY THIS time every lovely follower of fashion is (we hope) well aware that Spring, 1930, is the season for suits. Not in years has one been able to say with so much finality that here lies the infallible road to chic. It is a fortunate turn of events to be sure, for there is no evading the fact that the Canadian woman looks her best in a suit. Our long-limbed Anglo-Saxon inheritance provides the perfect framework for such a consideration, the thrifty can have almost miraculous variations of costume effected by two or three blouses and interchangeable accessories. But suits this season have undergone drastic changes. They may be of silk or wool, softly tailored and feminized by the dressmaker's touch, or they may be more severe in tailoring. Jackets call attention to waist lines by means of belts of nipped-in effects. Skirts have more length at both ends, and blouses are a story in themselves. On the left is a youthful suit of tweed in brown and beige with a box coat. The centre Vogue sketches include an interesting suit of cravat silk with a little cape on its shoulders. The jacket flares slightly below the belt and the skirt has an inverted pleat at the centre front and at each side. One of the most universally becoming suits is the type shown in the sketch at right centre, with its double-breasted jacket, padded shoulders and gently nipped-in waistline. With it might be worn a delicate batiste blouse, with fine tucking and patent hand work, which is one of the newest blouse revivals. A handkerchief linen blouse, a silk one, or a jersey model would serve equally well and offer colorful variation. Of course, each would be worn tucked under the skirt. On the extreme right is a smart sleeveless frock of white silk with a jacket of green satin which matches the band on the white hat.

School Board Official Gets Big Surprise

CLOVERDALE, May 23.—Looking through a few books that had been left to him by Mr. Charles H. Clow, who died last August, Mr. Simon Cunningham, secretary of the Victoria School Board, made a surprising discovery. In one of the books there were certificates for forty-one shares of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, which, at the present price, are worth fully $2000. It was only recently that Mr. Cunningham heard of the bequest and received the books left to him by Mr. Clow, who was formerly an architect and lived in a shack on Clow Road, Surrey. Mr. Clow left other stock certificates to the Royal City Lodge, I.O.O.F., New Westminster. However, no mention was made in his will of the certificates found by Mr. Cunningham, and it is believed that Mr. Clow had forgotten about them.

"Very good. And did he take any other kind of intoxicant?"
"Yes, sir. Blackboard of soda."

TRUSTEES OF PLANTAGENET SCHOOL MEET

Make Statement to Ratepayers Regarding Difficulties Presented by Legal Decision

RATEPAYERS AGAIN FAVOR CONSOLIDATION

COBBLE HILL, May 23.—About a hundred people attended a meeting in the hall last night, which had been called by the trustees of the Plantagenet Consolidated School, so that the trustees should have the opportunity to lay before the ratepayers the events that have taken place since consolidation and to get directions how to proceed, more especially with regard to an assessment made on the ratepayers for the purchase of land, Mr. E. W. Bonford, chairman of the board, presided. With regard to the matter noted above, a resolution was passed, advising the trustees to refuse a reassessment omitting this sum.

A resolution, expressing the entire confidence in the board, was passed unanimously, the proposer, Dr. C. Wace, eulogizing the trustees for their hard and honest work and straightforward dealing.

A resolution was then passed favoring the principle of consolidation in this district, and calling upon the trustees to use their efforts in bringing it about in the shortest possible time. There was also a motion, passed with one dissent, forming the trustees into a committee for the purpose of seeing that the notice, calling the next annual school meeting in the four districts affected, be drawn up in accordance with Judge Murphy's interpretation of the act. The secretary, Mr. W. Aldred, gave a clear and concise account of the whole history of the movement up to the position as it is at present, and the sympathy of the audience was shown in a resolution asking the trustees not to resign before the end of the school year. The presence of a few of the opposition party resulted in some liveliness, but good temper prevailed throughout. Mr. George Owens, a trustee of the Cowichan Station School, complained that the trustees had been teaching three children from the Bench school district, and had sent in a bill to the Plantagenet school trustees who, acting on the advice of the Department of Education, refused to pay it. It was pointed out by the chairman that consolidation here would obviate this condition of things.

COURTENAY, May 23.—Mr. B. L. Gield had the misfortune to lose his Willys-Knight car when visiting his mother at Hartland Farm recently. After installing a new fuse for the lighting system, the car was found to be in flames. In order to save another car nearby, Mr. Gield pushed his car down a steep bank when the gasoline in the tank had been ignited, with the result that the car was a total loss.

A special meeting of the prize list committee will be held on Tuesday, May 27, at the home of Mr. A. E. Wall, Island Highway.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening by Mesdames M. B. and Neil Pollock.

BETTER SCHOOL ACCOMMODATION

Improvements Have Been Carried Out in Both Buildings at Courtenay

COURTENAY, May 23.—With the inauguration of a senior matriculation class in the high school last year, which gives every promise of being successful, Courtenay consolidated its position as the educational centre of this district. Whether it will be found practical to maintain this first-year matriculation course next year depends on the number of pupils forthcoming.

During the year considerable additional facilities have been provided in both the school buildings. At the high school the completion of the chemical laboratory by the Department of Education has added greatly to the science educational facilities here. At the manual training and home economics centres there have also been decided improvements and additions. In the first instance the laying of a wooden floor over the cement has reduced the broken foot hazard besides making the centre more comfortable during the winter months. New tools, additional equipment and benches have also been provided. In the second instance the centre is being provided with home economics electricity equipped cooking tables, each capable of accommodating four students at the same time. This has been a special wiring to carry the extra load caused by the electric hot plates, and the assistance from the department in Victoria has made this possible also. This means that the district will now receive a fuller benefit from the home economics course than it was able to take heretofore. At the last meeting of the School Board it was decided to advertise for a high school principal, whose duties will commence with the new school year, to fill the vacancy which has recently been caused here.

DISCUSS THEFTS ISLAND SERVICE

Chamber Directors Consider Reopening of Old Drydock and Customs Inspection of Yachts

The Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday considered the reopening of the old drydock at Esquimalt, following the reading of a communication from the Usanians Club of Victoria. Captain Truop moved that, in view of the report that the drydock had been used for the purpose of storing stolen goods, the members of the chamber could not see the necessity of reopening the drydock.

A communication regarding the striking off of St. Island Princess from the Summer schedule of steamers to call at Thetis Island, was tabled by the directors. Mr. George I. Warren pointed out that one of the residents of this island had complained that he had a considerable amount of hay arriving every week, but the matter was carried no further.

A communication from the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, regarding the clearing of visiting boats, and also those boats which had returned from cruises to the United States, was considered. This matter was referred to the port committee of the chamber for a report.

It was decided unanimously that the directors, who regularly fortnightly meetings of the directors of the chamber should take place Mondays, instead of on Fridays, as heretofore.

MECHANICAL MAN MAKES DEBUT AS DINNER SPEAKER

NEW YORK, May 23.—Televox, the mechanical man made him debut as speaker last night at the banquet of the American Bookellers' Association here.

Introduced by Mr. Charles A. M. Beard, author, Televox delivered a speech defending the machine age. The grotesque figure stood at the speaker's table, two glassy eyes—green and one red—staring from his flat face. Long arms dangled at his sides.

Twenty feet away an electrical engineer blew a soft note from a pitch pipe into an ordinary telephone receiver. Televox shrugged one shoulder, his eyes lighted. A row of little bulbs in the chest were illuminated. A grid-glow tube in the thorax flashed.

"My name is Televox," the mechanical man said in a clear, but slightly tinny voice. "As Dr. Beard so kindly said, I am the personification of the machine age which he defends."

Televox rumbled and clicked and flashed and blinked, passing out a number of witticisms which caused the diners to laugh and stare.

RECORD CROWD ATTENDS ANNUAL SCHOOL SPORTS

Elks Defeat Jokers 7-3 to Take Lead in Amateur Ball League

Antlered Crew Play Steady Ball Behind Effective Hurling of Norm Forbes, and Ousts Champions From Top Place

HOW THEY STAND

W. L. Pct.	Elks	Jokers
3 1 .750	Elks	Jokers
3 2 .600	Jokers	Elks
2 3 .400	Sons of Canada	Elks
1 3 .250	Elks	Jokers

ALTER Lorimer's Elks ball tossers, ousted the Jokers, last year's champions, from the premier berth in the Senior Amateur Ball League pennant race last night, when they defeated them 7-3. Two bad innings, the second and sixth, when the antlered crew scored three and four runs respectively, spelled defeat for the Jokers.

Norm Forbes, star moundman in the Elks camp, had his slants working to perfection for the greater part of the time, and held last year's champions to five scattered singles. He breezed eleven and issued four free trips to the initial cushion. Forbes' only wildness was in the third frame, when he issued free transportation to Bill Emery in the third inning with the sacks loaded down.

Leo Holden, who has been doing the greater share of the heavy duty for the Jokers, was on the hitlist last night, and had his first defeat of the season marked up against him. The Elks collected twelve safeties from his offerings, while four swung in vain. His teammates let him down at the crucial stages in a game that had them keyed up all the way.

JOKERS RALLY

The Jokers started a rally in the seventh when Stuckey crashed out a double to left field, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice by Leo Holden. Belcher came to bat with two men down and clouted one of Forbes' curved offerings to deep right field for three bases, but he died there. Barry, who followed him, was given a walk. Collins, the next slugger to face Forbes, went down to first after taking three balls and Barry was caught walking down to second on the third out, thinking that Collins had been given a walk.

Tommy Forbes played short for the Elks in the absence of Jack McKenzie, and turned in a creditable performance.

Herb Cummings, Elks' second sacker, had quite a time with his trusty wheel collecting three hits out of four trips to the plate.

SPEED MARK CHALLENGED BY SIMPSON

Ohio State Speedster Serves Warning to Tolan in Winning Prelim in 9.7-10 Seconds

BIG RACE WILL BE RUN TODAY

DYCHIE STADIUM, EVANSTON, Ill., May 23.—Flashing through a driving rain, George Simpson, Ohio State's great sprinter, served warning today that he intends to establish a new world's record for the 100-yard dash tomorrow and make it stand up without reservation. The Ohio comet, competing in the preliminaries of the Western Conference outdoor track and field championships this afternoon, reeled off the century in 9.7.

Simpson threw away his starting blocks, which caused the International Amateur Athletic Federation to rule out his performance of 9.4 seconds as a world's mark. He will not use the blocks in the finals tomorrow when he races Eddie Tolan, University of Michigan negro speedster, whose performance of 9.5 established in the Big Ten meet a year ago, was recognized by the federation as the world's record for the century.

Tolan had no trouble in winning his qualifying heat in 9.8, broke the tape about three feet ahead of his teammate, Charles Smyth, while Simpson had about the same margin over second place Ueman, of Illinois. Probably because of the wet footing, it was Tolan who used the controversial starting blocks today, but he may decide to dispense with them tomorrow.

Tolan and Simpson also won their preliminary heats in the 220-yard dash. Simpson again made the best time, flurting with world record performances when he turned in 21 seconds flat for the first time. He was caught in 21.8 seconds. Michigan and Illinois were ranked as favorites to win the team championship as a result of performances in the preliminaries. The Wolverines and Illinois, along with Iowa, each placed fifteen men in the eleven events in which preliminaries were held.

Ohio State placed thirteen men, Wisconsin eleven, and Chicago six. Northwestern shot five in the finals, Minnesota four, Indiana three and Purdue two.

(Special to The Colonist)

QUALICUM BEACH, May 23.—Jack Matson, one of Victoria's best left-handers, captured the qualifying round of the Up-Island golf championship here today, when his 76 of yesterday still stood pat as those who lined up in the medal round this morning failed to check him with scores of better than eighties. Matson's winning round was made up of a 31 on the outward journey and a 39 on the incoming route. The remainder of the competitors were far behind the winner. The majority of the favorite batters through in their first round matches played this afternoon. Of the eight players left in the quarter-finals, which will be played tomorrow morning, six Victorians are among them.

Jack Matson, Dr. Barrett, R. J. Mackenzie and Captain C. I. Mackenzie are among the favorites to win the championship. According to the competitors the course is in excellent shape.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

Ice Will Burn.—The fact that ice will burn in combination with some chemical elements is known as the "Ice Paradox." One experimental example is that of the gasoline separator, wherein high test gasoline is separated from the wet gas. Separators and pipe lines are coated with a thick layer of ice, which, when scraped and ignited, will burn readily.

The Untouchables of India.—The untouchables of India are the teeming multitudes of the low caste Hindus, whose touch will pollute, and whose very shadow will defile, a high caste Brahmin. They have lived for centuries in the most abject conditions, and their degraded condition is one of India's greatest woes.

A Small Walk on One Foot.—The single "foot" of the snail is simply a large muscular extension of the small underside. When the snail is resting the "foot" is set on the ground. Its forward motion is accomplished by contracting and expanding in turn of the different sections of the "foot." This motion is characteristic of the mollusks, with which the snail is classified.

Mrs. Jackson Defeats Mrs. C. Eve 4 and 3 to Retain Uplands Title

Large Gallery Watches Hard-Fought Final—Shaky Start Disastrous to Runner-Up—Mrs. Watson Wins First Flight

Playing sound golf throughout, Mrs. Jackson successfully defended her Uplands golf championship yesterday when she defeated Mrs. Cecil Eve, 4 and 3. In the final eighteen-hole match, a large crowd followed the match, which was played under fine conditions, but with considerable wind. Mrs. Watson captured the first flight honors, defeating Mrs. Saunders 5 and 3 in the final.

A shaky start proved the main reason for Mrs. Eve's downfall as she lost four of the first five holes, which proved to be the deciding margin. After the fifth the runner-up started playing her real game and gave the champion plenty to think about.

DRIVING BIG FACTOR

Mrs. Eve was constantly outdriven by the long-hitting Mrs. Jackson, but her short game made up for this deficiency after her poor start. Mrs. Jackson—556 537 854—48

BRING THESE ELEMENTS INTO SWING AT PROPER TIME—THAT'S TIMING!

What is meant by timing the shot?

Answered by LEO DIEGEL

By timing the shot is meant bringing the hands, body and club-head into the stroke at the proper time to secure the maximum of distance and accuracy. All three of these factors must coincide to assure the best results.

The fault of most players is that they hit too soon, attempting to throw the clubhead at the ball before the downswing is completed or properly timed. This destroys the sense of rhythm that always accompanies the well-timed shot.

MOSS STREET BOYS GAIN LAURELS IN CITY SCHOOLS MEET

Institution Captures Senior Challenge and Parent-Teachers' Cups at Victoria Public Schools Sports—Oaklands and Girls' Central Tied for Junior Challenge Cup

Tug-of-War Contest Captured by Oaklands Over Quadra School

After some of the stiffest competition seen in any sports held in the capital city during recent years, Sir James Douglas School walked off with the lion's share of handsome silverware yesterday afternoon in the annual Victoria and District School Sports Association's track and field meet at the Willows oval. Principal Ernest Campbell, of the winning institution, and his squad of teachers deserve great credit for the way the youngsters performed.

The Moss Street aggregation of students captured the Senior Challenge Cup with a grand total of twenty-six points, and then annexed the Parent-Teachers' Challenge Cup by amassing a grand total of thirty points. In the senior trophy competition Sir James Douglas School were hard pressed by both George Jay and Oaklands, who finished in a deadlock for second place with totals of twenty-one points.

The battle for the Parent-Teachers' cup was still more exciting, with the winners coming through by a margin of one point over Principal Bob McInnes and his brilliant band of athletes, flying the colors of the Oaklands School. The aggregate trophy is awarded to the school totaling the most points in the junior and senior events.

TIE FOR TROPHY

Oaklands and Girls' Central finished in a deadlock for first place in the race for the Junior Challenge Cup after some sharp competition. Both schools fought neck and neck all the way, and when the recorders checked up on the various winners it was discovered that a tie had been created.

The largest crowd in the history of the meet was on hand. The large grandstand was packed to capacity, the bleachers on the right were crowded every inch, and a matter of fact there were children of all ages all over the place. Mingled with the youngsters was a good turnout of parents, teachers and others who send their way to the track. The large attendance was handled with every care and precaution by the city and Oak Bay police departments, ably assisted by the officials of the school's association.

Promptly at 2 o'clock, the scheduled event, Archie McKinnon, physical director at the Y.M.C.A., who acted as starter in a capable and impartial manner, fired the shot that sent the first group of youngsters dashing down the track. The unlimited prize is due to the officials of the association for the way they ran off the large list of events. Each race was handled in rapid time, and the forty-two events were concluded by 4:30 o'clock.

Yuen Wong, of the George Jay School, ran a beautiful race to capture the century dash from a classy field. Wong broke with the gun and tore down the track at a good steady pace to finish in first place with ten feet to spare. Jimmy Tullihill, Margaret Jenkins, took second place, a few strides in front of R. Hughes, Boys' Central.

Breaking with the first report of the gun, Zoe Richards, Oaklands School, captured the 100-yard dash in the girls' section. Miss Richards was easily the class of the field and was one of the best among her sex in the senior fair sex events. The winner set a fast pace in the century, but just managed to nose out Nettie Miller, Burnside, by two feet. Ruth Shepherd, Quadra, also ran a fine race and finished third.

RELAYS ARE CLOSE

Thrill after thrill was witnessed in both the boys' and girls' relay events. Gaining a slight lead in the first leg of the 400-yard relay, the girls' team of Sir James Douglas School captured the quarter-mile relay in the open class. Sir James Douglas was second, and Victoria West third. North Ward walked off with the quarter-mile relay in the boys' junior class, with Sir James Douglas as a close second, and Oaklands third. In the half-mile relay, open, South Park set a fast pace, to finish in first place a few feet in front of North Ward's squad. Victoria West, also took third place honors in this event.

Bob McInnes and his sturdy band of Oaklands School youngsters displayed superior form to capture the tug-of-war contest by defeating Quadra's institution in the finals. The winners' total weight was 998 pounds, to their opponents' 998 lbs. In the last and winning pull, Quadra took the most of the rope, while Oaklands held a steady strain. With their opponents' every practice sapped away from early usage, Oaklands jumped at the opportunity and managed to pull Quadra over the mark.

Gloom nearly crept into the programme as the last events were being carried out. In the half-mile bicycle race for boys under thirteen, three riders, all up as the pedal pushers were heading down the home stretch. Except for a slight shaking up, the riders other than the leaders were not even seen. Keen competition was evidenced in all the other races, and many a happy smile blossomed over the countenances of the youngsters.

Health and Diet Advice

Sunday: Breakfast—French omelette, crisp bacon, muffins made of soy bean flour, stewed prunes. Lunch—Buttered beets, creamed cucumbers, lettuce. Dinner—Roast pork, okra, baked eggplant, celery and ripe olives. Jell-O or Jell-Well.

Monday: Breakfast—Coddled eggs, Melba toast, stewed apricots. Lunch—Raw apples, glass of sweet milk. Dinner—Broiled steak, string beans, small carrots, head lettuce, baked pears.

Tuesday: Breakfast—Eggs and tomatoes (baked) served on Melba toast, crisp bacon. Lunch—Cream of spinach soup, buttered green peas, pear salad. Dinner—Baked sea bass, cooked tomatoes, salad of raw spinach and cabbage, no desert.

Wednesday: Breakfast—Eggs, poached in milk on Melba toast, stewed raisins. Lunch—Fresh fruit as much as desired of any kind. Dinner—Mutton chops, cooked carrots and peas, string bean salad, pineapple whip.

Thursday: Breakfast—Crisp waffles, a little maple syrup if desired, baked apple. Lunch—Generous dish of junket. Dinner—Vegetable soup, roast beef, zucchini, McCoy salad (lettuce, tomatoes and cucumbers), ice cream.

Friday: Breakfast—One coddled egg, wholewheat muffins, stewed figs. Lunch—Dish of berries canned without sugar, cottage cheese. Dinner—Broiled fillet of sole, string beans, sliced tomatoes on lettuce, appleauce.

Saturday: Breakfast—Wholewheat mush with cream (no sugar). Lunch—Glass of orange juice. Dinner—

*Quick vegetable-cream soup, Salisbury steak, asparagus, stuffed celery, Jell-O or Jell-Well.

*Quick vegetable-cream soup: While I always advocate the waterless method of cooking vegetables whenever possible, there are many instances when there will be found on hand a small quantity of the liquid from some cooked vegetable, or perhaps the liquid drained from canned vegetables, which contains valuable mineral elements that should be used. This liquid may be combined with an equal amount of canned or fresh cream, a little chopped parsley or celery, heated just below the boiling point, and served garnished with a dash of whipped cream. As an example, even the water in which cauliflower has been cooked makes a very appetizing soup; or the liquid from canned asparagus, pears or tomatoes. These vegetables with the more pronounced flavors are especially suitable. It requires but a few moments to prepare soup in this manner, and the result is very pleasing as well as economical and healthful.

Judges to Address British Commons on Capital Punishment

By CONSTANTINE BROWN

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

LONDON, May 23.—Judge Marcus A. Kavanagh, of Chicago, has arrived in London on a special mission. He, together with famous judges from France, Belgium and Sweden, will testify before House of Commons' committee on the advisability of abolishing capital punishment.

Under the inspiration of several prominent leaders of the Labor party, the British Government has decided to investigate the question whether capital punishment is worthy of a civilized nation. A number of well-known English judges would like to see it abolished; others, including Lord Darling, present Lord Chief Justice, believe in it.

The special committee appointed to study the question has appealed to well-known foreign judges to express their opinions on the subject. Judge Kavanagh, who favors capital punishment, will give the reasons for his advocacy and cite instances in his long career in support of his stand next Wednesday in the House of Commons.

A university student, when sitting for an examination, was asked to compose one verse of poetry, including the words "analyze" and "anatomy."

He wrote:

My analyze over the ocean.

Oh, who will go over the ocean.

And bring back my anatomy.

(From a Birmingham elementary school.)

PUBLIC WORKS DAY SHORTENED

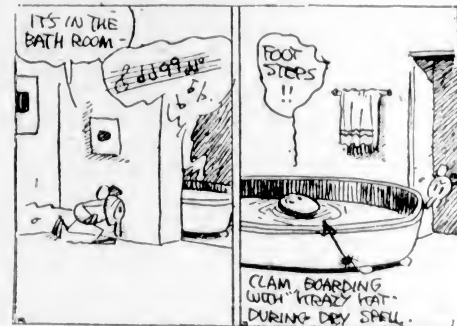

Government Bill Approved Respecting Better Conditions—Does Not Apply to C.N.R.

OTTAWA, May 23.—Despite opposition from the Canadian Construction Association, the railway committee of the Senate today approved the Government bill respecting fair wages and an eight-hour day for labor employed on public work of the Dominion.

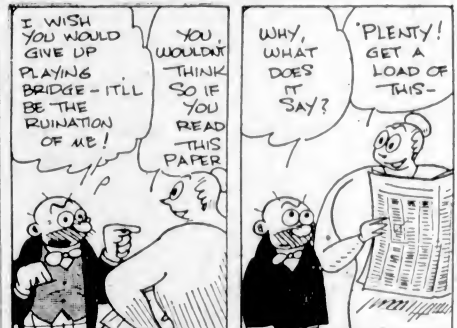

Representing an association of contractors, Mr. J. C. Reilly opposed the bill on the grounds that it would work a hardship on the general building trade. The Government, by setting a standard for its work, would affect the private construction business as well, Mr. Reilly submitted.

The deputy minister of the Department of Labor and the deputy minister of Railway and Canals, assured the committee the provisions of the bill would not apply to the Canadian National Railway nor the Hudson Bay Railway, but would apply to the government-operated roads, such as the Intercolonial and the National Transcontinental. One distinction was that the C.N.R. was operated without Government jurisdiction and its contracts were not made by the Government.

Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor, told the committee that, if the Government, in elevating the standards for labor in its own works, did something for labor in private contract business, it would accomplish something worth while.

Teacher: "Why did you stay away from school yesterday?"

Boy: "Please, sir, my mudder's ill."

Teacher (anxiously): "Scarlet fever is bad in the village. What does the doctor say it is?"

Boy: "Please, sir, he says it's twins."
